1.0 What's Happening Week 4?

This week we'll first finish our series on Greek villages with a walk through Vasilika, another small village made famous by anthropologists (.pptx).

Then we're off to Scandinavia which year after year rates at the top of the happiest places in the world to live. We'll meet Aarne and Lasse Aatsinki and their family, Sami Cowboys reindeer herders of Arctic Finland.

Our trivia for the week focuses on Scandinavian sexist banknotes, or lack thereof.

And we'll check in on the Finnish Sauna (see the Week 3 Readings) and see how that migrated to Northern Minnesota with the Finnish loggers who arrived here in the early 1900s.

All in all, it will be a very great week—especially if Punxsutawney Phil, the famous groundhog from Pennsylvania, does not see his shadow on Thursday (unless, of course, you are looking forward to six more weeks of winter). “Groundhog Day has its roots in the ancient Christian tradition of Candlemas, when clergy would bless and distribute candles needed for winter. The candles represented how long and cold the winter would be. Germans expanded on this concept by selecting an animal—the hedgehog—as a means of predicting weather. Once they came to America, German settlers in Pennsylvania continued the tradition, although they switched from hedgehogs to groundhogs, which were plentiful in the Keystone State.” (First Groundhog Day, History.com)

And we'll take a little time to catch up. So this is also Ketchup week (even though nationally Ketchup Week is in December). So catch up on your readings, videos, and slides, and start at least thinking about the Midterm Exam.

"Brothers Aarne and Lasse Aatsinki are cowboys of the Arctic. Quiet but good natured, dare-devilish but humble, rugged but gentle, and exceptionally knowledgeable when it comes to their little slice of wilderness. The brothers, along with their wives and children, live well north of the Arctic Circle in Finnish Lapland, where they are the leaders of a collective of traditional reindeer herders who manage the last group of wild reindeer in all of Finland. Aatsinki follows the family for the span of one year, quietly observing their seasonal routines and the difficulties and joys of a life so closely tied to the land. Though, on the surface, Aatsinki is the story of a single family, its underlying narrative is one of global consequences and connections. Between their uncanny understanding of the landscape and their reindeer on the one hand, and their heavy reliance on snowmobiles and helicopters on the other, the herders have been categorized as beacons of sustainability and demons of environmentalism—in essence, poster children for simplicity and technology alike."

DUE NEXT WEEK: Your Informal Project Proposal

Keep thinking about your Class Project, about something that you, personally, are interested in. Pick out 1-3 things that interest you, that are related to the class, that you think might make a good Class Project.

This Project is something with which you should be able to have fun.

It's a good time to have at least a quick look at the information for your class project, which you can find at <http://www.d.umn.edu/cla/faculty/troufs/anth3635/ceproject.html#title>.

Your class Project is your Term Paper, plus a short “work-in-progress” presentation.

Details of Term Paper

Your Informal Project Statement, or Project Proposal, is due by the end of Week 5, Saturday, 11 February 2024. Basically, that's a short informal summary personal statement of what you are interested in doing, how you think you might go about it, and what resources you are thinking about using. It can be as simple as the following:

“For my project I’m thinking about X, or Y, and these are the items I’m thinking about using [add short list]. This is why I’m interested in this/these project(s) [add your reason(s)]. . . .

It is an informal statement. A more formal statement will come later on (in Week 7, Saturday, 25 February 2024).
