General Comments for the Week

I hope your first week with Global Cultures went well, and that it has been enjoyable, and that you are liking the readings and other materials.

Don't forget to check up on your classmates and prof . . . if you haven't already done so.

The Course: Part I

Anthropology graduates, reflecting back on their time with us at UMD, suggested in our surveys that it would be a good idea to tie the individual courses in the Anthropology curriculum together a little more. So that's what we're going to do for much of the next two or three weeks, after we finish the Orientation and Introduction.

This will also help set the basic analytic, theoretical, and historical framework for the course. This material should provide you with the background and analytical tools to help you with your class Project, and help you begin to make sense out of the topics that follow later in the course—a good deal of which will be provided via video—and towards the end of the semester with your class presentations.

If you are curious about me, more than you probably want (or ought) to know is available on the Meet Your Professor page

<<http://www.d.umn.edu/cla/faculty/troufs/MeetYourProfessor.html>>. More that you or anyone needs to know is available, with some nice photos, at <http://www.d.umn.edu/~troufs/anthfood/PowerPoint/af-meet\_your\_prof.pptx>.

A while back one of the students seemed to especially like the part where the older folks in my home town of Winsted, MN, talk about the time I burnt the Town Hall by my dad's restaurant down (which I didn't, I only burnt half of the back side off.)

Worldwide questions of emigration and immigration are among key interests for governments and individuals. Opposition to particular immigrant groups, and immigration in general, has become a major issue in both local and world politics today, perhaps second only to the climate change crisis, COVID-19, and "globalization," as a driver of both informed and uninformed discourse, and cognizant and unapprised government policy and debate.

Whether you are party to them or not, debates and diatribes over emigration and immigration have changed the political landscapes that many of us—maybe even most of us—were born into.

And both the disciplined debates and vitriolic protests over emigration and immigration will likely continue in the foreseeable future.

So this week (and next week) we focus on one of the major virtually global concerns, by having a look at real people in real places, viz. Spain, to try to understand some of the human dimensions of modern-day emigration and immigration.

What are emigrants and immigrants like? What do they do? What kind of lives do they live? What makes them laugh? Cry? Angry? Sad? Worried? And what do neighbors and governments do about them?

In Extranjeras (Foreign Women) we're going to look at immigrants coming to Madrid, Spain. And we'll also see what's in the current news of Spain. And next week we'll have a look at Spanish emigrants going to Scotland. That is, we're going to look at people coming to Spain, and other people leaving Spain (for Edinburgh, Scotland), and check to see what appears in the current news of those two countries.

The free movement of people in the European Union (EU) is one of four basic rights guaranteed by the EU charter. "There were over 37.7 million foreigners in EU and EFTA [European Free Trade Association] countries in 2015—8% of the total population. More than 45% of these foreigners were from an EU or EFTA state" ("Which European countries attract the most immigrants?" swissinfo.ch, 5 December 2017).

So this week we begin by having a look at . . .

Extranjeras (Foreign Women).

(74 min., 2005, CC)

"Extranjeras (Foreign Women) shows the least known and most typical aspects of other cultures through the experience of various immigrant women living in Madrid. We see these women's everyday existence - their family environments, how they live and what they work at. We are given the chance to know what happens to their dreams, and where their affections lie. We also discover the new places they have created in order to meet and exchange."

"Shows the experiences of immigrant women from China, Bangladesh, South America, Africa, the Middle East, and Eastern Europe in Madrid."

Start thinking a little bit about your Class Project.

Start thinking about something that you, personally, are interested in, and we'll work things out from there.

with which you should be able to have fun.

It's a good time to have at least a quick look at

Details of Term Paper ↗

Your Informal Project Statement ↗, or Project Proposal, is due by the end of Week 5, Saturday, 2 October 2021. Basically that's a short informal summary personal statement of what you are interested in doing, how you think you might go about it, and what resources you are thinking about using. It can be as simple as the following:

“For my project I’m thinking about X, or Y, and these are the items I’m thinking about using [add short list]. This is why I’m interested in this/these project(s) [add your reason(s)]. . . .

It is an informal statement. A more formal statement will come later on (in Week 7, Saturday, 16 October 2021).
